Prof. dr hab. EWY BOJAR

International Scientific Conference
marking the 40th anniversary of scientific and didactic work of prof. Ewa Bojar

"Development of Organizations and Regions – Challenges for Economics and Management Sciences"

held in Lublin, 23–25 June, 2014

Dear Sir or Madam,

With a great pleasure I am inviting you to present a paper at the international conference "Development of Organizations and Regions – Challenges for Economics and Management Sciences", which will be organized jointly by the Faculty of Management, Lublin University of Technology, and the Management Board of the Scientific Association for Organization and Management.

The conference will be organized in Lublin, June 23 – 25, 2014, under the auspices of Prof. Piotr Kacejko, Rector of the Lublin University of Technology.

The conference will address the most pressing issues and challenges connected with management of development processes in regions, as well as in business and public organizations. These challenges result from justifiable social expectations for fast and rational transformations of regions and organizations towards economic growth. Presently, the general view is that economics and management sciences are in a unique stage of development which is characterized by replacing old paradigms with the new ones. Many even argue that the 'new economics' and the 'new management' are now emerging.

We believe that the conference will be a stimulus and a valuable source of inspiration for further research and creative theoretical considerations in the field of economics, management sciences and regional development.

The conference will centre around the following topics:

- Sustainable development and globalization processes
- Innovativeness and competitiveness of organizations and regions
- Innovativeness and entrepreneurship in regional policy
- Networks and clusters in regional development
- Public management
- Management 2.0

More information on the conference, including publication of submitted papers and formatting requirements, you can find on the conference website:

I look forward to meeting you in Lublin, Poland.

Yours Sincerely,
